HEAVY FIRING IS FACED.

Filipinos Bring Artillery Into Play at Calumpit.

PORTION OF THE CITY CAPTURED.

American Commanders Expect Fate of the War to Be Settled at This Point—Indications Point to a Heavy Engagement—Three Americans Killed and Seven Wounded—Lawton Meets Obstacles.

MANILA, April 27.—Aguinaldo's army is defending Calumpit energetically, which is said to indicate that the rebels are finally making that place their last ditch or stand, which the Americans expected them to make at Malolos. For the first time the Filipinos are employing artillery. They brought two guns into action in the trenches yesterday before Calumpit, firing modern shrapnel, which burst over the heads of General Wheaton's men without effect.

The fighting was resumed at 6 o'clock yesterday morning. During the night the American engineers repaired the Bagbag bridge, thus enabling our troops to cross the river.

General Wheaton's brigade advanced in extended order, with the Kansas regiment to the west of the railroad and the Montana regiment to the east of it, and took up a position covering one and a half miles on the south bank of the Rio Grande. On the opposite bank were fortified trenches from which a few American soldiers would have been able to defy thousands, so strongly were they constructed. The Americans found the trenches on the south bank of the river deserted.

This furnished them with cover from which they could pick off Filipinos whenever one of them showed his head. When the rebels began firing the rising of two puffs of smoke simultaneously from the trenches on each side of the railroad track showed they were using cannon, which was a genuine surprise to the Americans. Several shells burst close to General Wheaton's staff, but it seemed that the Filipinos failed to master the machinery of modern shells, as they were unable to get the right range.

Young's Utah battery was ordered into position in the center of the Kansas regiment to silence the rebel guns, and at 11 o'clock the rapid-fire guns had been ferried across the river and came into line. At noon the rebels were still pouring a heavy fire in the direction of the Americans, who returned it spiritedly. Three Americans were killed and seven were wounded.

Lawton Meets Obstacles.

General Lawton is meeting with the greatest obstacles in the character of the country. His troops have only had a few skirmishes thus far, resulting in five of his men being wounded. But he has been forced to put his men at work building roads and the transport service is giving much trouble, bullocks dying from exhaustion and Chinamen have to be employed in pulling some of the carts. Therefore the general has been unable to cover the ground he hoped to cover.

The natives flee before the expedition, but they swim back to their huts as soon as the American troops have passed. A few Filipino sharpshooters are harassing the American flanks.

MORE RIOTING IN PARIS.

Advocates and Opponents of Dreyfus Revision Hold Rival Meetings.

PARIS, April 27.—The advocates and opponents of Dreyfus revision held rival meetings in Paris this evening. Several persons were injured.

The Figaro's publication of the evidence of Captain Cuignet before the court of cassation has thrown the anti-revision party into consternation. All the anti-Dreyfus papers are boiling with indignation. Several of them suppress altogether the testimony of this officer, whose principal statement was that the guilt of Dreyfus could be only inferentially established from the secret dossier. His designation of Paty du Clam as a forger is considered to be a complete giving way of the general staff. The only possible explanation for it seems to be that Cuignet, acting under orders, is making Paty du Clam a scapegoat for the staff.
